Adria launches its Supersonic range

Adria Motorhomes have announced the launch of their new Supersonic range this autumn. Four models are available, offering either fixed rear single beds or a rear island bed. This elegant and sophisticated range will be built on the Mercedes-Benz chassis, as will Adria's Coral and Matrix Supreme ranges, giving an ultimate performance and a sleek and elegant interior to the cab. Mercedes engines have long been highly reliable and are top of the range in terms of motorhome conversions. All Supersonic models will be equipped with the 170BHP Automatic engine.

We have ordered twenty models for the new season and cannot wait to see these motorhomes in our showroom later this year. Images and full specifications will soon be available to view on our website under our new Adria motorhomes page. Until then, you can find out more below.
